

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

A

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Acrophobia	Fear of heights or high places. This dizzying fear can cause all kinds of problems.
Agateophobia	Fear of madness or of going insane. Some people even worry they can go insane by worrying about going insane.
Agoraphobia	Fear / phobia that can make it hard to leave the house. Can be caused by the fear of open spaces or places.
Algophobia	Fear of pain. Everyone has fear of pain, but some fear it obsessively.
Allodoxaphobia	Fear to excess what others think about you? You may suffer from allodoxaphobia.
Apiphobia	Fear of bees? This fear can include the fear of wasps and other flying, stinging bugs.
Aquaphobia	Fear of drowning. No one wants to die by drowning but people suffering from aquaphobia have an excessive fear.
Arachnophobia	Fear of spiders. There was even a major motion picture made with the name arachnophobia. (most famous phobias)
Arsonphobia	Fear of fire. If you have arsonphobia, you won't be the one setting the fire, you'll be the one running away from it.
Asthenophobia	Fear of fainting or weakness. Asthenophobia is clinically recognized as an anxiety disorder.
Astrophia	Fear of celestial space or stars. Can cause severe anxiety at night. Thankfully, Van Gogh was not a sufferer of this phobia.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

A

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Astraphobia or Astrapophobia	Fear of thunder. Can be seen not only in humans, but often in dogs. Dogs have been known to panic and get lost during thunderstorms.
Asymmetriphobia	Fear of asymmetry. This phobia can often be part of the manifestation of obsessive compulsive disorder.
Ataxiophobia	Fear of ataxia (muscular incoordination). This fear can lead to a paranoid obsession with any physical symptoms.
Ataxophobia	Fear of disorder or untidiness. Can make for a very clean house, but very little tolerance of other less hygienic individuals.
Atelophobia	Fear of imperfection. May cause one to get emotionally distraught when making a mistake. Also causes the avoidance of anything considered to have an element of risk.
Atephobia	Having a fear of ruin or ruins.
Athazagoraphobia	Fear of being forgotten or ignored. Someone who is obsessively starved for attention, may struggle with athazagoraphobia. May be the problem of being a middle child.
Atomosophobia	Fear of atomic explosions. If you are a child of the nuclear arms race generation, then you may have this phobia
Atychiphobia	Fear of failure. This phobia could keep you from living life, taking chances, or having adventures.
Aulophobia	Fear of flutes may be related to the instrument's pitch. No orchestra time for you.
Aurophobia	Fear of gold. If you have aurophobia, you'll have to pick one of the other precious metals

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

A

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Auroraphobia	Fear of the Northern lights. This fear will definitely keep you away from the Aurora Borealis, which many seldom have the opportunity to see in their lifetime.
Autodysomophobia	Fear of one with a vile odor doesn't seem hard to imagine. When an individual's sense of smell is offended, it can cause a great deal of stress.
Automatonophobia	Fear of ventriloquist dummies, animatronics creatures, wax statues—anything that falsely represents a sentient being. Is not unlike having a fear of clowns. These imaginary characters, often a ghoulish, mix fantasy with realism.
Automysophobia	Fear of being dirty often is accompanied by the fear of germs or contamination. (Along the lines of OCD).
Autophobia	Fear of being alone or of oneself. Can often be caused by an imagined or real experience with abandonment.
Aviophobia or Aviatophobia	Fear of flying, is more common than one might imagine. An individual with this fear may drive to a vacation destination rather than fly.

B

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Bacillophobia	Fear of microbes can be aggravated by social media 'news' posts that are exaggerated to create interest, and for some, panic.
Bacteriophobia	Fear bacteria, you may find yourself excessively cleaning, and meticulously inspecting your food before tasting.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

B

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Ballistophobia	Fear of missiles or bullets could be part of the PTSD experienced by those who have served in active combat situations.
Bolshephobia	Fear of Bolsheviks. Some may have been inundated with misinformation or had a singular traumatic interaction to have developed a fear of Bolsheviks.
Barophobia	Fear gravity, perhaps you heard some scientific misinformation that gravity was somehow detrimental to you.
Basophobia or Basiphobia	Fear of walking or falling. This is one of only two fears which psychiatrists believe humans have from birth. It could be because of the transition from womb to free movement.
Bathmophobia	Fear stairs or steep slopes, this is your phobia. Some who have balance problems or equilibrium issues may experience this.
Bathophobia	Fearing deep places, this phobia may have to do with the inability to know what is in the depth, fearing the unknown.
Batophobia	Fear of being close to high buildings may be related to having balance or equilibrium problems. (Quite Common)
Batrachophobia	Fear amphibians, such as frogs, newts, salamanders, etc., are more common than you may think. People are usually more comfortable with a furry animal that is cuddly and enjoys human interaction.
Belonephobia	Fear of pins and needles (aichmophobia). May cause problems for medical treatments which require injections or IVs.
Bibliophobia	It's hard to learn when you have a fear of books. A person who has this phobia would not likely be seen in a library.
Blennophobia	Fear slime maybe you should not join the slime craze, making all kinds of creative slimes. The fear of slime is also considered a disgust phobia more than fear.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

B

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Bogyphobia	If you don't want to look under your bed, it may be that you have a fear of the bogeyman.
Botanophobia	Hard to imagine, but some do have a fear of plants. It may be a manifestation of another phobia, fearing the plant is dangerous or dirty.
Barophobia	Fear gravity, perhaps you heard some scientific misinformation that gravity was somehow detrimental to you.
Basophobia or Basiphobia	Fear of walking or falling. This is one of only two fears which psychiatrists believe humans have from birth. It could be because of the transition from womb to free movement.
Brontophobia	If you have a fear of storms, thunder, or lightning, this is your phobia. Animals, such as canines and felines, often have this as well.
Bufonophobia	A little more specific than batrachophobia , the fear of toads may have to do with superstitions, such as catching warts or being cursed and turning into a frog.

C

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Cacophobia	Fear of ugliness can be exacerbated by societal and peer expectations and feedback as to what constitutes being ugly
Cainophobia or Cainotophobia	Fear of newness or novelty, you may keep things well beyond their useful life or not want to try a more modern version of something.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

C

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Caligynophobia	Fear of beautiful women may be because you feel inadequate in your own skin or 'out of their league.'
Cancerophobia or Carcinophobia	Many people suffer from this excessive fear of cancer. With the frequency which cancer occurs in humanity, some may feel it's an inevitability.
Cardiophobia	Fear of the heart may cause a great deal of anxiety, since you can usually feel your own heart beating.
Carnophobia	Fear of meat, may stem from a health phobia, or a fear of the animal from which it comes.
Catagelophobia	Common fear, that of being ridiculed, is intensified in this age of bullying through social media.
Catapedaphobia	No taking a dare for this fear of jumping from high or low places. One phobia may be caused by another, in this case, potentially a fear of falling.
Cathisophobia	Fear of mirrors might develop because you have a self-confidence problem or you've watched too many horror movies.
Cenophobia or Centophobia	Fear of lightning often is present along with the fear of thunder. One can exacerbate the other.
Ceraunophobia, Keraunophobia	Fear of failure. This phobia could keep you from living life, taking chances, or having adventures.
Cheimaphobia or Cheimatophobia (Frigophobia)	Fear of cold. People that cringe at the thought of going outside in winter may suffer from this phobia.
Chemophobia	Fear of chemicals or working with chemicals due to a fear of being harmed or even killed.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

C

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Cherophobia	Some might think it's wrong to be too cheerful because they have a fear of gaiety. They may feel being too happy may set them up to be blindsided by tragedy.
Chionophobia	Fear of snow. While some may enjoy snow, others may worry about health consequences or have sensory issues that make snow feel like an irritation.
Chiraptophobia	Fear of being touched may be partly a sensory issue. Finding yourself in a crowded situation could be terrifying if you inadvertently end up touching others. Also known as haphophobia .
Chirophobia	Fear hands, you are chirophobic. This would prohibit you from friendly greetings or touching by others.
Chiroptophobia	Fear bats, you are not alone. These mostly harmless creatures have been villainized in movies and a general fear is held by many.
Cholerophobia	This the phobia of anyone who fears anger or the fear of cholera. This personality type might be described as timid.
Chorophobia	More than the excuse of 'having two left feet,' some actually have an unhealthy fear of dancing.
Chrometophobia or Chrematophobia	Hard to imagine, but this is the fear of money—or more likely, the fear of being without money.
Chromophobia or Chromatophobia	A world of black and white would be less threatening for this phobia, the fear of colors.
Chronophobia	You may fear time, maybe because it seems to be passing too quickly or too slowly.
Chronomentrophobia	When you fear clocks, you may be upset by the sound. The ticking or chimes may be too loud, or perhaps the movements signal the passing of time.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

C

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Cibophobia	This fear of food (sitophobia, sitiophobia), can be the cause of unhealthy and harmful eating disorders.
Claustrophobia	A very common fear, being scared of confined spaces can hinder getting medical diagnostic testing, getting in elevators, or on airplanes.
Cleithrophobia or Cleisiophobia	This fear of being locked in an enclosed place may stem from a prior experience or trauma.
Cleptophobia	The fear of stealing. Those who live in crime-ridden areas may develop this particular phobia.
Climacophobia	Fear of stairs, climbing, or of falling down stairs might be your phobia. For those who feel unsteady or somewhat weak, it may translate to a fear of falling.
Clinophobia	This fear of being enclosed would mean that fences and barriers are going to cause significant stress for you.
Clithrophobia or Cleithrophobia	Fear of being enclosed would mean that fences and barriers are going to cause significant stress for you.
Cnidophobia	A cosmic phobia, this is the fear of comets. Maybe the fear is that there will be a renegade asteroid hurling itself toward Earth.
Cometophobia	A world of black and white would be less threatening for this phobia, the fear of colors.
Coimetrophobia	Not uncommon, this fear of cemeteries comes from the curiosity and fear that people have concerning death.
Coitophobia	If you fear coitus, you may be coitophobic. This fear may come from unhealthy experiences or lack of education. Also known as genophobia.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

C

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Contreltophobia	This means having a fear of sexual abuse. There is certainly enough reports of criminal assault to make one wary of being a victim. It may also develop as a result of trauma.
Coprastasophobia	It's not something openly discussed, but this is a fear of constipation. It could be a worry that it is a sign of a more serious health problem.
Coprophobia	Fear of feces is understandable. From a young age, we are taught that proper hygiene includes never touching fecal material (poop).
Consecotaleophobia	This means that you possess a fear of chopsticks. Who knows how this fear develops, but authentic Asian restaurants are not for you.
Coulrophobia	Fear of clowns is a very common phobia. These masqueraders with exaggerated features tend to violate your personal space. This fear is understandable.
Counterphobia	Hard to comprehend, this is the preference by a phobic for fearful situations. They seek out the very things of which they are afraid.
Cremnophobia	Fear of precipices. This could be accompanied by other phobias such as fear of heights and fear of falling.
Cryophobia	Fear of extreme cold, ice, or frost. You would not enjoy the winter season.
Crystallophobia	If you fear crystals or glass, you are a crystallophobic. You may not find diamonds or brilliant stones beautiful, but more likely, alarming.
Cyberphobia	This fear of computers or working on computers is becoming more prevalent. The reliance on technology for work, play, and communication can cause stress when something malfunctions.
Cyclophobia	You may possess this fear if you have a phobia of bicycles. The balance required, potential for falling, the need to stay free of the chain, and knowing how to stop safely can cause stress and even panic in some.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

C

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Cymophobia or Kymophobia	Oceans and furrowing flags may aggravate this fear of waves or wavelike motions. Some get motion sickness just watching this type of movement.
Cynophobia	Cynophobia means you have an unnatural fear of dogs or rabies. It may stem from an overly fearful parent or experiencing a canine bite.
Cypridophobia or Cypriphobia or Cyprianophobia or Cyprinophobia	Fear of prostitutes or contracting a venereal disease. One can appreciate how those two aspects of the fear may be related.

D

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Decidophobia	Means you fear making decisions. A decidophobic may get paralyzed by struggling over a commonplace decision.
Defecaloesiophobia	Fear of having painful bowel movements could stem from a low pain tolerance or a perseverating on the possibility.
Deipnophobia	Fear of dining or dinner conversations is the phobia of an introverted personality. The requirement for spontaneous communication could be agonizing.
Dementophobia	Fear of insanity may develop when pushed mentally to the top of what we feel we can handle.
Demonophobia or Daemonophobia	If you fear demons, this is your phobia. Issues regarding the spirit world and understanding it often bring some type of fearful moments.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

D

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Demophobia	Some might think that this fear of crowds is perfectly normal since some people just prefer to be in a small group or alone.
Dentophobia	Another common phobia, the fear of dentists. Previously, children experienced this more than adults, but the advent of pediatric dentistry has greatly reduced the prevalence of dentophobia in children.
Dermatophobia, Dermatosiophobia, Dermatopathophobia	If you fear skin lesions or skin disease, you are a dermatophobe. This fear involves fearing the health implications of the skin irregularities.
Dextrophobia	A locational fear of objects at the right side of the body. It could have a similar origin to those that fear asymmetry.
Diabetophobia	If you're a bit of a hypochondriac, you may experience this fear of diabetes.
Didaskaleinophobia	You fear going to school if you're battling this phobia. More than just the typical childhood avoidance, a fear such as this might indicate a number of issues.
Dikephobia	Fearing justice. Living with this phobia would give one the feeling that something is going to catch up with them and they'll be subject to consequences.
Dinophobia	Experiencing the fear of dizziness or whirlpools. It is a movement phobia so one wonders if balance and our equilibrium issues are contributing factors.
Diplophobia	Fear of double vision. Many people have some type of fear relating to the deterioration of their sight.
Dipsophobia	Fear of drinking may have to do with the fear of overdoing and the unpredictable result.
Dishabiliophobia	Fear of undressing in front of someone else is really an extreme version of modesty and being evaluated.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

D

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Disposophobia	Fear of throwing out items. Commonly known as hoarding, it is very common among the elderly.
Domatophobia	Fear of houses or being in a house. Eicophobia or oikophobia could also be variations.
Doraphobia	Fear of fur or skins of animals may indicate an extremely squeamish individual.
Doxophobia	If you fear the expression of opinions or resist receiving praise, it is doxophobia. One avoids the discussion of opinions which often lead to disagreements and arguments.
Dromophobia	It might be an extreme safety concern, this fear of crossing streets. A person may take the long way when walking to avoid crossings.
Dutchphobia	Fear of the Dutch. Phobias relating to a particular group often come from prejudices engrained when in childhood.
Dysmorphophobia	Fear of deformity or disfigurement. One worries about having their body becoming a source of embarrassment.
Dystychiphobia	To fear accidents. Individuals who fear accidents often have a sense of being cursed or fear injury.

E

Ecclesiophobia	Fear of going to church. When dealing with spiritual issues, people often fear the potential for sensing guilt or requiring life change.
-----------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

E

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Ecophobia	If you fear home, you'd be an ecophobe. Perhaps the sense of aloneness or confinement for some causes this fear.
Eicophobia	Should you fear your home surroundings, this is your phobia. While the actual building itself may not be a problem, the environment and perhaps other residents are. (Domatophobia, oikophobia).
Eisotrophobia	Fear of mirrors or one's image in a mirror. An individual may avert their glance or avoid walking past a mirror completely.
Electrophobia	Fear of electricity. Not using electrically powered devices or lights would be an expression of this phobia.
Eleutherophobia	Fear of freedom does not seem reasonable at all. However, some find comfort in structure and being subordinate to someone else's decision-making.
Elurophobia-Ailurophobia	Fear of cats. As with a fear of any animal, this may originate from misinformation or a bad experience. (Ailurophobia)
Emetophobia	Fear of vomiting occurs when someone gets repulsed by their own sickness and all that goes with it.
Enetophobia	An extreme pain aversion, the fear of pins or getting poked by them, is not uncommon
Engulfment (Fear of)	The deep fear that a relationship will take you over, you will lose yourself, or you'll be controlled.
Enochlophobia	This, as with agoraphobia, is the fear of crowds. A congested, chaotic environment is always avoided.
Enosiophobia or Enissophobia	Fear of having committed an unpardonable sin or of criticism.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

E

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Entomophobia	Most people who fear getting bug bites harbor this fear of insects. The basis of the fear is some kind of bite-related reaction.
Eosophobia	Fear of sunrise or the light of day. A vampire would be said to have eosophobia.
Ephhebiphobia	With this phobia, one experiences a fear of teenagers.
Epistaxiophobia	Fearing nosebleeds. Any condition that results in visible blood loss often causes extreme fear.
Epistemophobia	When one fears knowledge. While knowledge is power for many, knowledge is an unbearable burden for some.
Equinophobia	Possessing a fear of horses. The size and power of equines is overwhelming for those with this phobia.
Eremophobia	To fear being by one's self or a fear of loneliness. Abandonment issues, either real or imagined, contribute heavily to this fear.
Ereuthrophobia	Possessing a fear of blushing. This phobia is a fear of giving an indication of being embarrassed.
Ergasiophobia	Fear of work/functioning or a surgeon's fear of operating. It is an extreme form of performance anxiety for high pressure situations.
Ergophobia	Having a great fear of work, perhaps due to issues at work that cause anxiety.
Erotophobia	A condition characterized by fear of sexual love and/or sexual questions. A fear of the topic in general.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

E

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Euphobia	To have extreme angst when hearing good news. This may indicate a pessimist who is conflicted with good news.
Eurotophobia	Another of the sex-based fears, this phobia is regarding the female genitalia.
Erythrophobia or Erytophobia or Ereuthophobia	This fear is more about the color red and what it represents. Included in the phobia with the color red itself, are red lights and blushing.

F

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Febriphobia or Fibriphobia or Fibriophobia	Fear of running a fever. Some people fear a fever and are frequently taking their own temperature.
Felinophobia, Ailurophobia, Elurophobia, Galeophobia, Gatophobia	Fear of cats. As with a fear of any animal, this may originate from misinformation or a bad experience.
FOMO (Fear of missing out)	This is not quite a phobia but still a very disruptive fear that can take away your time and give you serious anxiety.
Frigophobia	Fear of cold or cold things. People that cringe at the thought of going outside in winter may suffer from this phobia. (Cheimaphobia, cheimatophobia, psychrophobia)

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

G

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Galeophobia or Gatophobia	Fear of cats. As with a fear of any animal, this may originate from misinformation or a bad experience.
Gallophobia or Galiophobia	Fear of France or French culture. Ethnic phobias are common and also based on the misinformation of an acquaintance. (Francophobia)
Gamophobia	Fear of marriage It's likely that this phobia is also partnered with a fear of commitment.
Geliophobia	It's amazing to think this is a fear of hearing laughter. Fear of hearing laughter may be caused by assuming the malicious intent of the laughter or the irritating pitch of the laughing person's voice.
Gelotophobia	Fear of being laughed at is related to fears dealing with a lack of self-confidence.
Geniophobia	This phobia has to do with the fear of chins. Obsessions with body parts can often lead to an irrational fear of them.
Genophobia	Having a fear of sex could result from unrealistic or hurtful portrayal of sex in media.
Genuphobia	Another phobia relating to a body part, this is the fear of knees. While we consider knees an indispensable body part, some may fixate on them to point of finding something of which to be fearful.
Gephyrophobia	Not uncommon, this is the fear of crossing bridges. Depending on the height of the bridge, this may have to do with other phobias, such as fear of heights or fear of falling.
Germanophobia	A phobia based on a particular group, germanophobia is the fear of Germany or German culture.
Germaphobia	Are you terrified at the thought of germs? Germs and microbes are a part of living, but you can work hard and overcome this fear.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

G

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Gerascophobia	Often manifesting itself in midlife is the fear of growing old. It is typically accompanied by some type of regret.
Gerontophobia	This fear of the aged or of growing old is a variation and maybe another form of fearing one's own aging.
Geumaphobia or Geumophobia	While people love to eat, some are hindered by this fear of taste.
Glossophobia	Considered by some to be one of the top fears, glossophobia is the fear of speaking in public or of trying to speak.
Globophobia	Fear of Balloons, large or small, may stem from the thought of balloons popping, which can be scary.
Gnosiophobia	The fear of knowledge. The includes being frightened by what you know or may learn.
Graphophobia	To fear writing or handwriting. A phobia of the written word on paper.
Gymnophobia	A basic fear for many is nudity. Many adults have experienced the classic nightmare of being caught in a public place with no clothes on. Psychologists have many interpretations of such a dream.
Gynephobia or Gynophobia	Fear of women is most often in men. Rather than be attracted to an 'opposite', they are confused and frightened by them.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

H

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Hadephobia	Fear of hell. Often, this fear is really the fear of ending up in hell. Anything that we can not see nor have knowledge of intimidates us.
Hagiophobia	Fear of saints or holy things is probably accompanied by other fears having to do with our faith or sense of what we believe.
Hamartophobia	A somewhat common fear, the phobia of sinning is held by believers that there is such a thing as right and wrong and they feel somewhat powerless to keep from doing the wrong.
Haphephobia or Haptophobia	Fear of being touched and may indicate a fear of a possible contagion or contamination.
Harpaxophobia	Fear of being robbed, especially if they themselves or someone they know has been robbed.
Hedonophobia	You've heard it said of some that 'they just won't let themselves be happy.' That's the fear of feeling pleasure.
Heliophobia	Whether for health reasons or a cosmic sense of impending doom, many humans fear the sun.
Hellenologophobia	Fear of Greek or complex scientific terminology, you would not enjoy a taxonomy class or a Greek tragedy.
Helminthphobia	Fear of being worm-infested. It may be derived from an overactive and somewhat paranoid imagination.
Hemophobia or Hemaphobia or Hematophobia	Fear of the sight of blood can be severe enough to cause an individual to pass out.
Heresyphobia or Hereiophobia	Not too many enjoy having their beliefs or personal philosophy challenged. That is especially true of those with this fear of challenges or radical deviation to official doctrine.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

H

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Herpetophobia	An extremely common fear of reptiles or crawling things. Many will say they do not like spiders and snakes in particular.
Heterophobia	To fear the opposite sex. May be the sign of a traumatic event or the result of being raised in a largely singular-gender environment. (Sexophobia)
Hexakosioihexekontahexaphobia	Fear of the number 666 originates from the Bible, where it is referred to as the sign of the Beast and a prelude to the Great Tribulation.
Hierophobia	Possibly linked to a fear of sinning, the fear of priests or sacred things could result when feeling 'unworthy' to be in their presence.
Hippophobia	Fear of horses. The size and power of equines is overwhelming for those with this phobia.
Hippopotomonstrosesquipedaliophobia	Fear of long words may be more due to annoyance and confusion. We often fear what we do not understand.
Hobophobia	Fear of bums or beggars may originate from two very different schools of thought: we fear what we could become, or we fear something that we believe has the potential to harm us.
Hodophobia	Fear of travel by road is a bit of the opposite of the fear of flying.
Hormephobia	If you have ever heard the expression, 'scared to death,' you'll better understand this fear of shock. Incidences of death when exposed to extreme stress or shock are well documented.
Homichlophobia	Blame horror movies for this one. The fear of fog is a variation on the fear of the unknown, because we don't know what lies within or beyond the fog.
Homilophobia	Fear of sermons may be an indication that we feel we are about to be morally judged.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

H

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Hominophobia	It is common for women to possess this fear of men. Men tend to have more physical, aggressive tendencies, often intimidating to women.
Homophobia	This fear has more than one facet: fear of sameness or monotony; phobia of homosexuality or of becoming homosexual.
Hoplophobia	A person with this fear of firearms may fear being shot or accidentally shooting someone themselves.
Hydrargyrophobia	If you fear mercurial medicines, this is your phobia. The plethora of information we receive on the harmful effects of mercurial medicine has certainly contributed to this fear.
Hydrophobia	When one experiences this fear of water, it is often the perceived potential for drowning that is the source of anxiety. Another definition of hydrophobia is the fear of rabies.
Hydrophobophobia	Not surprising is this fear of rabies. One conjures up images of a horrible, painful crazed fit of death.
Hyelophobia or Hyalophobia	Fear of glass. Could it be the transparency of glass or the potential for breakage and subsequent dangerous shards is at the core of this phobia?
Hygrophobia	To hold a fear of moisture, liquids, and/or dampness.
Hylephobia	This fear can be characterized in two very divergent phobias. One of materialism and the other, the fear of epilepsy.
Hylophobia	While many of us find respite on a wooded pathway, others manifest this fear of forests.
Hypengyophobia or Hypegiaphobia	Possessing this fear of responsibility means a dread of personal accountability.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

H

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Hypnophobia	A good number of people would admit to a fear of sleep or of being hypnotized, a sense of relinquishing conscious control of one's body.
Hypsiphobia	Common to many of us, is the fear of height. Especially if we are uncoordinated or have equilibrium problems, we persevere on the potential for falling.

I

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Iatrophobia	Having this fear of physicians or visiting physicians is very prevalent, because we fear the possibility of them sharing concerning health diagnoses or of submitting us to a painful procedure.
Ichthyophobia	Those who fear fish likely fear other creatures that live in very different environments and are not 'cuddly' or approachable.
Ideophobia	To hold this fear of ideas, one would likely fear the potential for change that accompanies ideas.
Illyngophobia	Fearing vertigo or the feeling of dizziness are manifestations of this phobia.
Iophobia	Those with more than a healthy dose of paranoia may suffer from this fear of poison.
Insectophobia	To fear insects is not uncommon, considering the potential for bites or stings.
Isolophobia	Fear of isolation, solitude, or being alone can be very real for individuals and create mental instability.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

I

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Isopterophobia	Another of the bug phobias, this fear of termites extends to the fear of what they may do to your home.

J

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Japanophobia	Fear people and culture of a Japanese origin. This may be due to some preconceived notions and prejudice.
Judeophobia	Fear of Jews. Many believe it was an irrational phobia such as this that drove Hitler's madness.

K

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Kainolophobia or Kainophobia	Fearing the new or novel is often expressed as an extreme resistance to change.
Kakorrhaphiophobia	Because social media allows for the rapid and broad dissemination of information and events, this fear of failure or defeat is heightened in many who are already risk averse.
Katagelophobia	The anti-bullying phobia, the fear of ridicule and embarrassment is present in some degree in almost everyone.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

K

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Kathisophobia	Do you fear sitting down? This is your phobia. Maybe it's a matter of feeling vulnerable if you are in a seated position.
Katsaridaphobia	Many exhibit this fear of cockroaches. They are associated with a poor quality living condition.
Kenophobia	Fear of voids or empty spaces. From the black holes in space to any empty room, both of these can cause angst for someone with this phobia.
Keraunophobia or Ceraunophobia	Fear of storms, thunder, and lightning, this is your phobia. Animals, such as canines and felines exhibit this phobia as well. (Astraphobia, astraphobia)
Kinetophobia or Kinesophobia	Several other phobias have to do with some type of this general fear of movement or motion.
Kleptophobia	People who have trouble dealing with temptation or response to crises may display this fear of stealing.
Koinoniphobia	Fear of rooms. Perhaps it is the confinement or fear of getting lost, or the need for the sameness of a single room that drives this fear.
Kolpophobia	Fear of genitals, particularly female. It may have its roots in our attempts to suppress discussions and education about this part of the human body.
Kopophobia	To have an extreme fear of fatigue. May relate to a fear of the cause of fatigue or all that may be left undone.
Koniophobia	If you fear dust, you may be concerned about suffocation.
Kosmikophobia	Driven by portrayals of astronomical threats from the heavens, this fear of cosmic phenomenon exists in many who fear apocalyptic events.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

K

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Koumpounophobia	Yes, the fear of buttons is an actual phobia. It's not a joke to those who suffer from it.
Kymophobia	Oceans and furrowing flags may aggravate this fear of waves or wave-like motions. Some get motion sickness just watching this type of movement. (Cymophobia)
Kynophobia	Not surprising is this fear of rabies. One conjures up images of a painful, crazed fit of death.
Kyphophobia	The phobia of stooping. As with the fear of sitting, one may feel vulnerable or unstable when stooping.

L

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Lachanophobia	Fear of vegetables may be just an excuse for many children, but a bonafide fear in others.
Laliophobia or Lalophobia	One of the greatest fears of humanity is that of public speaking. It would follow that some have an overall fear of speaking.
Lepidopterophobia	Know as the intense fear of butterflies, these beautiful flying creatures do scare some people.
Leprophobia or Lepraphobia	Know as a biblical disease that was isolating, disfiguring, and terminal, leprosy is still feared, especially in countries still encountering the disease.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

L

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Leukophobia	Fear of the color white. Colors conjure up various imagery and triggers from events in our past. It can create an unnatural fear of that color because of what it calls to mind.
Levophobia	Fear of things to the left side of the body. The left direction has historically been associated with being cursed or evil.
Ligyrophobi	Fear of loud noises, along with the fear of falling, are the two fears that science says we are born with.
Lilapsophobia	Fear tornadoes and hurricanes, you are not alone. Many who live in geographic weather belts where these natural threats occur frequently experience this phobia.
Limnophobia	Fear of lakes may be an extension of the fear of drowning.
Linonophobia	Those who fear string suffer from this phobia. Perhaps it is rooted in the fear of strangulation.
Liticaphobia	Not surprising, this is the fear of lawsuits. Lawyers are advertising the opportunity to sue someone or some business entity and promise lucrative potential for winning the litigation. Some may fear being the object of that litigation.
Lockiophobia	Fear of childbirth. Candid documentaries and portrayals of the pain and trauma of childbirth can cause fear in many people.
Logizomechanophobia	A growing phobia is the fear of computers. As they become more and more a necessary part of our lives, reliance on technology for work, play, and communication can cause stress when something malfunctions.
Logophobia	Those who exhibit a fear of words may struggle with their own verbal expression or recognize the ability of the 'wrong words' to create a lot of conflict.
Luiphobia	Pandemic and regional epidemics fuel this fear of flus and other communicable diseases, such as syphilis.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

L

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Lutraphobia	It's hard to understand anyone carrying this fear of otters. Perhaps it originates in some trauma or an 'otter-body' experience.
Lygophobia	Fear of darkness may really be a manifestation of the fear of the unknown or the association of darkness with evil or danger.
Lyssophobia	A fear of rabies. (Kynophobia)

M

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Macrophobia	Fear of long waits may actually be the transformation of severe frustration into a fear.
Mageirocophobia	While some may call it avoidance of responsibility, the fear of cooking is a real phobia for some. Perhaps it's the fear of getting burned in the preparation process or potentially poisoning their guests that drives this phobia.
Maieusiophobia	An understandable fear of childbirth. Candid documentaries and portrayals of the pain and trauma of childbirth can cause fear in most people. (Lockiphobia)
Malaxophobia	Fear of love-play may actually be a fear of where the love-play is leading. (Sarmassophobia)
Maniaphobia	This is a largely unspoken fear of insanity. Society is working to dispel the stigma of revealing and treating mental illness.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

M

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Mastigophobia	Fear of punishment. Those who've committed or perceive they've committed wrongs may live with a growing fear of the consequences.
Mechanophobia	Fear of machines is not an uncommon fear. As every generation develops new technology, a new phobia of operating and learning to maintain it develops as well.
Medomalacuphobia	Fear of losing an erection has been very lucrative for certain pharmaceutical companies.
Medorthophobia	Those that struggle with sexual inadequacy may have this fear of an erect penis.
Megalophobia	Many people, especially those of smaller stature, exhibit fear of large things.
Melissophobia	Fear of bees is based largely on a fear of the potential to be stung. Extreme versions of this phobia fear all flying insects considering they may all be bees.
Melanophobia	Those that fear the color black may have had prior bad experiences with something of that color. Additionally, black often represents evil or something bad.
Melophobia	While music may 'calm the savage beast' in many of us; for melophobes it stimulates fear or hatred and creates negative imagery.
Meningitophobia	With too much access to partial medical information, many individuals attempt to diagnose their malady. In this case they fear brain disease.
Menophobia	Females in general dread the burden of menstruation, but women with phobia actually fear it.
Merinthophobia	Not too many enjoy having their beliefs or personal philosophy challenged. That is especially true of those with this fear of challenges or radical deviation to official doctrine.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

M

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Metallophobia	Different materials, either by their physical properties or something they represent can lead to phobias, such as this, the fear of metal.
Metathesiophobia	Fear of change. Those who struggle with this phobia may see themselves as unwilling or unable to adapt to or deal with change.
Meteorophobia	Another in the phobias of cosmic proportions, this a fear of meteors.
Methyphobia	If you fear alcohol, you may fear that you'll lose control while drinking, and wonder the next morning what you may have done.
Metrophobia	Fear or hatred of poetry could certainly be the by-product for some of a high school or college literature class.
Microbiophobia, Bacillophobia	Fear of microbes can really be aggravated by too many social media 'news' posts that are exaggerated to create interest, and for some, panic.
Microphobia	Fear of small things, because they are hard to see, is much like fearing the unknown.
Misophobia, Mysophobia, Mnemophobia	Especially for those with a lot of trauma in their past, the fear of memories can be crippling.
Molysmophobia or Molsomophobia	To fear dirt contamination. As more outbreaks occur, people fear contamination with dirt or germs.
Monophobia	Fear of isolation, solitude, or being alone can be very real for individuals and create mental instability. The
Motorphobia	Fear of automobiles may result from surviving an accident, always using public transportation, or an unfamiliarity with the technology.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

M

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Mottephobia	Another on the bug phobia list, this is a fear of moths.
Musophobia or Muriphobia	Even mighty elephants can have this fear of mice. Those beady eyes and ability to navigate small spaces does not endear them to us.
Mycophobia	Perhaps a concern of being poisoned or because they are a fungus partially explains this fear or aversion to mushrooms.
Microphobia	Fear of very small things, things that are hard to see. Much like fearing the unknown.
Myctophobia	Fear of darkness may really be a manifestation of the fear of the unknown or the association of darkness with evil or danger.
Myrmecophobia	Fear of ants
Mythophobia	Fear of myths, stories, or false statements is an extreme version of just needing to find comfort in the truth.
Myxophobia	If you fear slime, maybe you watched the old movie, The Blob. It could also be that the texture reminds you of disgusting or unsanitary things. (Blennophobia)

N

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Nebulaphobia	Fear of fog is a variation on the fear of the unknown, because we don't know what lies within or beyond the fog. (Homichlophobia)

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

N

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Necrophobia	Much like funerals, this fear of death or dead things becomes a reminder of our own mortality.
Nelophobia	To possess a fear of glass. Could it be the way the transparency of glass or the potential for breakage and subsequent dangerous shards is at the core of this phobia?
Neopharmaphobia	If you fear new drugs, you just may have a healthy paranoia.
Neophobia	Fear of anything new is often seen in the very old or very young.
Nephophobia	Perhaps this fear of clouds is rooted in the belief that clouds are just a storm waiting to happen.
Noctiphobia	Fear of nighttime, could be a combination of fears including darkness and isolation.
Nomatophobia	Since many fears have triggers, a fear of names may relate to a prior negative experience.
Nosocomephobia	Many have fears relating to hospitals. Except for childbirth, the reasons for going to the hospital is to correct something that is wrong.
Nosophobia or Nosemaphobia	Fear of definite disease can manifest in an individual when they've had a family member contract a disease or they learn its in their family history.
Nostophobia	A person may exhibit this fear of returning home if memories of home recall sadness or trauma.
Novercaphobia	Fear of your step-mother is encouraged by all the evil portrayals in film and literature.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

N

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Nucleomitophobia	Fear of nuclear weapons has been around since the Cold War. The potential for annihilation of humanity haunts many people.
Nudophobia	Many fear nudity both of themselves and others, perhaps judging themselves against others.
Numerophobia	Many will tell you they hated math in school. The anxiety associated with learning math concepts may have resulted in a fear of numbers.
Nyctohylophobia	Fear of dark wooded areas or nighttime in forests is the combination of two phobias: fearing trees and darkness.
Nyctophobia	Fear of darkness may really be a manifestation of the fear of the unknown or the association of darkness with evil or danger.

O

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Obesophobia	Societal obsession with thin, athletic bodies has created the fear of gaining weight. Generally occurs in individuals of a larger body type, or thin individuals who have a distorted body image. (Pocrescophobia)
Ochlophobia	This, as in agoraphobia, is the fear of crowds. A congested, chaotic environment is always avoided.
Ochophobia	Fear of vehicles may result from surviving an accident, always using public transportation, or an unfamiliarity with the technology.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

O

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Octophobia	A very specific fear of the figure eight. This phobia likely relates to a prior event in the person's life.
Odontophobia	Many people report having the dream of their teeth falling out . This fear of teeth or dental surgery is a common one.
Odynophobia or Odynephobia	None of us like pain. With an obsessive fear of pain, one may avoid many activities to reduce any potential chance of injury, diminishing their quality of life. (Algoophobia)
Oenophobia	Not sure why, but there are those who fear wines. Maybe they have a Port paranoia.
Oikophobia	Though we often feel there's no place like home, some fear their home surroundings and house. (Domatophobia, eicophobia)
Olfactophobia	Fear of smells is likely a characteristic of someone who has highly sensitive olfactory lobes and a vivid imagination.
Ombrophobia	Some individuals who experience this fear of rain or of being rained on may fear that there is something unhealthy in the precipitation.
Ommetaphobia or ommatophobia	The intense and excessive fear of eyes or of eyes looking at you. Other similars fears are scoptophobia or scopophobia.
Omphalophobia	Those who have this fear of belly buttons may be concerned about deformity or hygiene.
Oneirophobia	Many have some fear of dreams, believing them to be prophetic about future events.
Oneirogmophobia	Fear of wet dreams may relate to the potential for embarrassment and judgment.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

O

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Onomatophobia	Knowing that our brain associates images with words, the fear of hearing a certain word or of names is really the fear of what it represents.
Ophidiophobia	An extremely common fear is that of snakes. Since biblical times, the serpent has been viewed as evil. (Snakephobia)
Ophthalmophobia	People with low self-esteem or poor body image often have a fear of being stared at.
Opiophobia	A newly recognized phobia of physicians' competency in prescribing pain medication.
Optophobia	Having a fear of opening one's eyes may be an attempt to shut out an undesirable reality.
Ornithophobia	A classic fear of birds, certainly not helped by horror movies.
Orthophobia	If you're phobic about the land you're on, you likely have a fear of property.
Osmophobia or Oosphresiophobia	Fear of smells is likely a characteristic of someone who has highly sensitive olfactory lobes and a vivid imagination.
Ostraconophobia	Fear of shellfish is often a fear of the possibility of sickness from eating shellfish.
Ovophobia	Fear of eggs is a rare phobia, if you work at it you can crack this fear wide open.
Ouranophobia or Uranophobia	It may seem odd to fear heaven, but for skeptics they may be worried it won't live up to their expectations.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

P

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Pagophobia	Fear of extreme cold, ice, or frost. You would not enjoy the winter season.
Panthophobia	Fear suffering or disease simply means you have an extreme aversion to pain.
Panophobia or Pantophobia	Fear of everything is a classic and extreme case of paranoia
Papaphobia	If you fear the Pope, you are papaphobic. In Catholic doctrine, he has extreme power and can pass judgment on life matters.
Papyrophobia	If you're afraid of paper products, life is going to be hard.
Paralipophobia	This is a fear of neglecting duty or responsibility, a feeling of not being dependable to others
Paraphobia	Some who are morally weak may fear being corrupted by sexual perversion.
Parasitophobia	The sensation of an itchy rash can feel like torture, so the fear of parasites is understandable.
Paraskavedekatriaphobia	Rooted in multiple historical superstitions, some let their fear of Friday the 13th, immobilize them for the day.
Parthenophobia	A quirky fear of virgins or young girls is likely rooted in the belief that their purity comes with power.
Pathophobia	Hypochondriacs have a crippling fear of disease.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

P

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Patroiophobia	If families have some genetics that are prone to serious conditions, one may experience a fear of heredity.
Parturiphobia	Candid documentaries and portrayals of the pain and trauma of childbirth can cause fear in most people.
Peccatophobia	Candid documentaries and portrayals of the pain and trauma of childbirth can cause fear in most people.
Pediculophobia	Fear of extreme cold, ice, or frost. You would not enjoy the winter season.
Pediophobia	If you fear dolls, perhaps you have imagined them to be a little more 'alive' than they are.
Pedophobia	Fear of children may be a blend of several fears: noise, germs, or failure.
Peladophobia	Some people with a fear of bald people see them portrayed as villains.
Pellagrophobia	Fear of pellagra is the fear of a rare B vitamin deficiency.
Peniaphobia	Many of us may have financial concerns, but some fear poverty even when their finances are stable.
Parthenophobia	A extreme reaction to a classic stereotype is the fear of mother-in-laws. (Novercaphobia)
Phagophobia	If you fear swallowing, or eating, or being eaten, it could most likely be a fear of choking.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

P

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Phalacrophobia	Vain individuals assume loss of all kinds of opportunity when losing their hair. The fear of becoming bald is overwhelming for some and they try lots of remedies.
Pharmacophobia	Some fear taking medicine with the belief that it has horrible side effects.
Phasmophobia	Fear of ghosts is not uncommon—if you believe in them, of course.
Phengophobia	Fear of the light of day. A vampire would be said to have eosophobia.
Philemaphobia or Philematophobia	This is the fear of kissing, or more commonly, the fear of getting cooties.
Philophobia	People have this fear of falling in love or being in love because love can hurt or break a heart.
Philosophobia	Some fear philosophy because it may challenge them too much intellectually.
Phobophobia	Fear of phobias. It stinks to be afraid of being afraid.
Photoaugliaphobia	What might first be an annoyance, can turn into a fear of glaring lights.
Photophobia	Those who have eye issues or like seclusion may have some fears about light.
Phonophobia	Fear of noises, or of voices, or of one's own voice. Fear of telephones.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

P

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Phronemophobia	For some, the fear of thinking causes them to work too much, play too much, or drink too much.
Phthiriophobia	Fear of extreme cold, ice, or frost. You would not enjoy the winter season. (Pediculophobia)
Phthisiophobia	Fear of tuberculosis. This fear speaks for itself.
Placophobia	A fear of tombstones relates to the body entombed within it.
Plutophobia	Some fear wealth because of the management and skill involved in managing it.
Pluviophobia	If you fear rain or being rained on, you might believe that something in the rain will harm you.
Pneumatiphobia	If you believe in the supernatural, you may fear spirits.
Pnigophobia or Pnigerophobia	Fear of choking or being smothered is one way people view as a horrible way to die.
Pocrescophobia	Propaganda and unrealistic body expectations can lead to an unhealthy fear of gaining weight. (Obesophobia)
Podophobia	The excessive fear of feet seems a bit strange considering we all have feet, but some are paralyzed with fear of others feet.
Pogonophobia	People fear men with beards, because part of their identity is hidden

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

P

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Poliosophobia	If you fear contracting poliomyelitis, this is your phobia. You may also be a hypochondriac.
Politicophobia	Society has shifted so much so that this phobia is considered normal. This is a fear of or abnormal dislike for politicians.
Polyphobia	Basically afraid of being afraid.
Poinophobia	To possess a fear of punishment. Those who've committed or perceive they've committed wrongs may live with a growing fear of the consequences.
Ponophobia	Fear of overworking may be a fear of missing out on fun or a fear of damaging your health.
Porphyrophobia	Purple is a trigger color for you if you have a fear of this color.
Portaphobia	Or Paruresis Is the extreme fear or disgust of port-a-potty's or outhouses, this can be a very inconvenient phobia and scary.
Potamophobia	Fear of rivers or running water may translate into a fear of drowning.
Potophobia	If you fear alcohol, you may fear that you'll lose control while drinking and wonder the next morning what you may have done.
Proctophobia	If rectums are a source of fear, you have proctophobia
Prosophobia	Some fear progress because they feel they are raising the bar on themselves

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

P

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Psellismophobia	If you have a speech impediment, you may fear stuttering and being subject to ridicule.
Psychophobia	Fear of your mind might be you questioning your own mental health
Psychrophobia	If you fear the cold, you most likely are worried about freezing to death.
Pteromerhanophobia	Many are afraid of flying because they are also afraid of heights.
Pteronophobia	Some fear being tickled by feathers, since it can be considered a form of torture.
Pupaphobia	Fear of puppets is much like the fear of clowns.
Pyrexiphobia	Fear of fever is another symptom of a hypochondriac.
Pyrophobia	The fear of fire or of burning to death are the greatest fears of many.

Q

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Quadrophobia	This fear is simply an irrational angst over the number four.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

Q

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Quadriplegiaphobia	Fear of quadriplegics or fear of becoming a quadriplegic.
Quintaphobia	Another numerical fear: the fear of the number five.

R

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Radiophobia	This is a very real fear of many who fear the effects of radiation and x-rays.
Ranidaphobia	Fear of frogs is related to their relative stillness and unpredictable hopping.
Rectophobia	No buts about it, fear of rectum or rectal diseases is an unusual one.
Rhabdophobia	Fear of being severely punished or beaten by a rod, or of being severely criticized. Also fear of magic because of the wand often used in the performance of magic.
Rhypophobia	While it seems strange to fear defecation, some worry about what is lost in their bodily excretions.
Rhytiphobia	Fear of getting wrinkles translates into fear of getting old.
Rophobia	This is a fear of trees. Walking in forests, wooded parks, standing near a tree in the yard would all be off limits for people suffering from this phobia.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

R

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Rupophobia	If you fear even dirt, you are likely a germophobe, too.
Russophobia	Fear of Russians is another xenophobic condition.

S

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Samhainophobia	Fear of Halloween, which is understandable considering the creepy things that people do to celebrate.
Sarmassophobia	Fear of love-play may actually be a fear of where the love-play is leading. (Malaxophobia)
Satanophobia	Fear of Satan is held by many with a background in the Christian or Jewish faith.
Scabiophobia	Though it's not a common disease, if you're paranoid you'll fear scabies.
Scatophobia	We fear fecal matter because it is waste and has potential for disease.
Sciophobia or Sciaphobia	To fear shadows is to fear the unknown.
Scoleciphobia	The fear of worms probably relates to their similarity to snakes.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

S

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Scolionophobia	If a student fears school, they may feel unable to meet the expectations.
Scopophobia or Sceptophobia	Fear of being seen or stared at. People with low self-esteem or poor body image often have a fear of being stared at.
Scotomaphobia	Fear of blindness is one that many people suffer with. It is by far our most used sense.
Scotophobia	Fear of darkness may really be a manifestation of the fear of the unknown or the association of darkness with evil or danger. (Achluophobia)
Scriptophobia	Fear of public writing is a case of feeling self-conscious about your abilities.
Selachophobia	Fear of sharks is warranted unless you are nowhere around them.
Selaphobia	If you fear light flashes, you may have extra sensitivity to light.
Selenophobia	As with other planetary paranoia, a fear of the moon is a fear of the unknown.
Seplophobia	Fear of decaying matter may be intensified by the putrid odor.
Sesquipedalophobia	The unusual fear of long words may be more due to annoyance and confusion. We often fear what we do not understand.
Sexophobia	Fearing the opposite gender. Sexophobia may be the sign of a traumatic event or the result of being raised in a largely singular-gender environment. (Heterophobia)

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

S

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Siderodromophobia	Certainly hearing or seeing a train accident could lead to this fear of trains, railroads or train travel.
Siderophobia	Another cosmic phobia, this fear of stars is another case of some excessive concerns about the unknowns of space.
Sidonglobophobia	A strange phobia indeed. The fear of cotton balls or similar small, white objects, such as packing peanuts. Strange indeed.
Sinistrophobia	Fear of things to the left or of left-handedness. It was once thought that someone who was left-handed was cursed in some way.
Sinophobia	Fearing Chinese, Chinese culture, or any type of tradition or language of that culture.
Sitophobia or Sitiophobia	Fear of food or eating. Can lead to unhealthy and very harmful eating disorders. (Cibophobia)
Snakephobia	An extremely common fear is that of snakes. Since biblical times, the serpent has been viewed as evil.(Ophidiophobia)
Soceraphobia	A fear of parents-in-law may be influenced in large part on historical societal stereotypes.
Social Phobia	Fear of being evaluated negatively in social situations.
Sociophobia	A fear of people or society as a whole.
Somniphobia	Fear of sleep may be a fear of not waking up or of being attacked in your sleep.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

S

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Sophophobia	Fear of learning. Perhaps this is the origin of the saying 'ignorance is bliss.'
Soteriophobia	If you have this fear of dependence on others, you'll stay a loner to avoid getting hurt.
Spacephobia	The generalized fear of anything in outer space.
Spectrophobia	Fear of ghosts is not uncommon—if you believe in them, of course
Spermatophobia or Spermophobia	Having a fear of germs that requires excessive disinfection
Spheksophobia	A fear of wasps is a subset of the fear of stinging insects.
Stasibasiphobia or Stasiphobia	You may exhibit a fear of standing or walking if you feel unsteady on your feet or unsure about where you're headed. (Ambulophobia)
Staurophobia	Fear of crosses or the crucifix may relate to the Christian faith or the belief in vampires.
Stenophobia	Fear of narrow things or places may relate in some way to claustrophobia.
Stygiophobia or Stigiophobia	This fear is really the fear of ending up in hell. Anything that we do can see nor have knowledge of intimidates us.
Suriphobia	Fear of mice, as with many other sneaky, beady eyed, big-toothed rodent.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

S

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Symbolophobia	Fear of symbolism causes questioning about the deeper meaning of images and words and the fear of offending someone.
Symmetrophobia	Fear of symmetry comes from the pressure to maintain the symmetry.
Syngenesophobia	Some who fear relatives may do so because of the extreme affection and attention which can be overwhelming.
Syphilophobia	Fear of syphilis is not only concerned with the illness, but the stigma with how it is contracted.

T

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Tachophobia	Those who require control of their environment have a fear of speed.
Taeniophobia or Teniophobia	Individuals who fear tapeworms are likely to heavily inspect their food.
Taphephobia, Taphophobia	The fear of being buried alive relates to the fear of dying by suffocation.
Tapinophobia	People who have a fear of being contagious are excessively worried about others.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

T

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Taurophobia	A person may exhibit a fear of bulls if they have seen bullfighting or bullriding or some other display of a bulls strength.
Technophobia	Fear of technology speaks to a love/hate relationship that we have with our 'stuff'.
Teleophobia	Fear of rigid rules and liturgy. This will keep you from joining organizations
Telephonophobia	If you cringe at communication, you may have a fear of telephones.
Teratophobia	Fear of bearing a deformed child or fear of monsters or deformed people.
Testophobia	Fear of taking tests, test anxiety, is more prevalent with the increase in standardized testing.
Tetanophobia	A rare fear of lockjaw and tetanus. A hypochondriac may look for any and all disease possibilities.
Teutophobia	The xenophobia of Germans or German things.
Textophobia	If certain fabrics scare you, this is your phobia. It could be the texture or the triggering of a bad memory.
Thaasophobia	To fear being seated. Maybe it's a matter of feeling vulnerable if you are in a seated position.
Thalassophobia	Fear of the vast expanse of the world. Oceans may cause a fear of the sea.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

T

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Thanatophobia or Thantophobia	Having fear over death and/or dying is quite common, especially as one gets older.
Theatrophobia	Fear of theaters may be brought on by the excessive volume and the many horror shows.
Theologicophobia	People fear God or gods because of the fear of judgment and punishment.
Theophobia	Fear of theology or fear of God. People fear theology because of the deep personal reflection involved.
Thermophobia	With a fear of heat comes the thought of succumbing to it.
Thyphallophobia	If you are hyper-reactive to things that stimulate you physically, you may experience this phobia of seeing, thinking about, or having an erect penis.
Tocophobia	Not surprising, some have a fear of childbirth. Candid documentaries and portrayals of the pain and trauma of childbirth can cause fear in most people.
Tomophobia	Fear of surgical operations is really a type of fear of dying.
Tonitrophobia	Fear of thunder can be seen not only in humans, but often in dogs. Dogs have been known to panic and get lost during thunderstorms.
Topophobia	Fear of certain places or situations, such as stage fright.
Toxiphobia or Toxophobia or Toxicophobia	Fear of poison or of being accidentally poisoned.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

T

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Traumatophobia	The fear of injury involves pain aversion and fearing loss of mobility.
Tremophobia	People may fear trembling if they equate it with early symptoms of a degenerative disease.
Trichinophobia	If you fear trichinosis then you are overly concerned about parasites.
Trichopathophobia or Trichophobia	An excessive fear of hair, like hair in a shower drain. (Chaetophobia, Hypertrichophobia)
Triskaidekaphobia	The fear of the number 13 is based on many centuries old superstitions. This can also be the fear of Friday the 13th.
Tropophobia	Fear of moving or making changes can be equated to the fear of change.
Trypanophobia	Fear of injections may be concern over what's injected as well as the pain involved.
Trypophobia	Fear of small holes, a phobia that has seemed to get a lot of attention these days.
Tuberculophobia	Hypochondriacs can add this fear of tuberculosis to their list.
Tyrannophobia	Perhaps in a country that's experienced tyranny, some may have a fear of tyrants.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

U

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Uranophobia or Ouranophobia	It may seem odd to fear heaven, but skeptics may be worried it won't live up to their expectations.
Urophobia	While it seems strange to fear urine or urination, some worry about what is lost in their bodily excretions.

V

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Vaccinophobia	Many fear vaccinations because of real or perceived side effects.
Venustraphobia	Fear of beautiful women may be because you feel inadequate in your own skin or 'out of their league.'
Verbophobia	Fear of words may struggle with their own verbal expression or recognize the ability of the 'wrong words' to create a lot of conflict.
Vehophobia	Fear of driving. Think of the issues this phobia can cause as cars are so entwined into modern life.
Verminophobia	Fear of germs that requires excessive disinfection.
Vestiphobia	If you fear clothing, it may be because of the way it makes you look.
Virginitiphobia	The thought of this level of violation certainly can cause an extreme fear of rape.
Virginitiphobia	Fear of step-fathers comes from the stereotypic belief that step-fathers are generally abusive.

List of Common Phobias, Manias and Excessive Fears

Many of the fears and phobias listed here come with convenient links to further reading. And because fears and phobias often go by different names, the list is alphabetized and cross-referenced for ease.

Best of all—THE LIST CONTINUES TO GROW!

U

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Walloonphobia	Fear of Walloons. Walloons are French speaking Belgians, and they must be very scary to have their own phobia . . .
Wiccaphobia	Fear of witches and witchcraft, heralded with holidays like Halloween, are very common in many cultures.

X

PHOBIA - MANIA - EXCESSIVE FEARS	MEANING
Xanthophobia	Fear of the color yellow or the word yellow, there may be something negative in your past associated with that color.
Xenoglossophobia	Some fear foreign languages because they assume people may be talking about them.
Xenophobia	While we want a healthy fear of strangers or foreigners in our children, this level of fear creates extreme anxiety and sometimes hostility. Is also known as the fear of the unknown.
Xerophobia	A fear of dryness may originate in a fear of thirst or dehydration.
Xylophobia	Things which consist of wood, objects, and trees are the basis of this fear.
Xyrophobia	A fear of razors relates to the potential for injury, as with any sharp object.

Z

Zelophobia	A fear of jealousy is the belief that jealous people do irrational and sometimes hurtful things.
Zeusophobia	People fear God or gods because of the fear of judgment and punishment.
Zemmiphobia	Fear of the mole rat is an extension of the general fear of rodents.
Zoophobia	Fear of animals is not uncommon, especially if witnessing an act of animal aggression, such as predator/prey interaction.